

9th Street Lab - Fall Workshops 2022 update v3

This fall 9th Street Lab is offering small group, outdoor workshops for 7-12 year old youth. All workshops take place at 1531 9th Street, Berkeley. Workshops are designed to teach essential building skills and to enable youth creativity, imagination, and curiosity. We build amazing things. We have fun.

WOODWORKING ESSENTIALS

In this workshop, beginner builders learn essential woodworking tools and techniques: measuring, hammering, sawing, and assembly. We take on a design challenge and everyone builds a unique and amazing project including marble mazes, kinetic art, critter houses, and more. Workshop: 1 session, $45.

REVERSE ENGINEERING - DISCOVER THE E IN STEM

Taking apart everyday objects, from sewing machines and car engines to laptops and blenders, reveals a wide range of science, technology, engineering, math, and just cool stuff! Each engineer will use a variety of tools and take apart several objects—from kitchen appliances and computers to 700 pound car engines. In our exploration, we discover how something works—the parts, systems, technologies, and mechanisms. Workshop: 1 session, $45.

Sunday, November 20, 9:30-11:30am; Sunday, November 20, 1:00-3:00pm

BUILD BIG BAMBOO

Have you ever wanted to build something so big you can climb up, climb in, crawl around, and duck under it all? We will explore the design, engineering, construction, safety, of building a structure. Our building material is bamboo and manila rope. We will learn basic structural engineering approaches and skills working with lashing bamboo struts. Workshop: 1 session, $45.

Sunday, December 4, 9:30-11:30am WAITLIST; Sunday, December 4, 1:00-3:00pm

IMAGINE IT? BUILD IT!

Our newest workshop. In this open workshop, builders of all levels create anything and everything. 9th Street Lab will provide all of the materials and tools. The workshop is centered around woodworking with a wide range of other materials to inspire imagination and creativity. This workshop is a hybrid of art, science, engineering, and curiosity all folded into one creative experience. Workshop: 1 session, $45.

Sunday, December 11, 9:30-11:30am WAITLIST; Sunday, December 11, 1:00-3:00pm
